If your child is absent from New Directions on days New Directions is in session when your home school district is closed (due to conference days/ACT 80 days), your child will be marked ABSENT

It is in the best interest of your child’s treatment that the parent/guardian should, if possible, make every attempt to bring your child on days ND is in session when your home school is closed

*School cancellations of your child’s home district due to inclement weather will NOT result in your child being marked absent *
